of its partners in building long-term relationships of trust and achieve economic growth together. In times of crisis, the countries have supported each other with their own unique approaches. The existence of such long-term and strong business relationships is becoming increasingly important in a fast-changing global order. The economic co-creation model established by ASEAN and Japan is expected to become a model that balances economic growth with the solutions to social challenges that arise fr00882 Te9S[ )]TJETQEMC /Span <MCID 25/Lang (en-US)>BDC q0.000008871
